CASE MANAGER, ISCI

"April has been working with an incarcerated man who cares deeply for his children. He's been desperate to be released in time for a hearing that will decide if his children are put up for adoption.

"The man has done everything right. He has followed the rules and completed his programming in exemplary fashion.

"Because of April's hard work, the man will have a chance to fight for his children. I know her work will have a profound impact on his view of the "system," and he will leave here knowing we've done everything we can to help him."
